Board of Relief Makes Five Abatements—increase in Thirteen Cases.

Total additions of $27,565 were made to the taxable property in the town of Killingly, according to the figures contained in the report of the board of relief filed Tuesday. The total reductions amount to $2,100. The net increase of the grand list as the result of the changes is therefore $35,665. There were thirteen increases made by the board and five abatements. The members also found two persons with taxable values not mentioned in the grand list, and the values fixed on them was $3,080. The two notable increases made by the board were on them was $3,080. The two notable increases made by the board were on the estate of Iseac Ballard, late of Ballouville, because of his deposits of money in savings banks of which the board had no previous knowledge, and on the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the board had no previous knowledge, and on the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the board had no previous knowledge, and on the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the board had no previous knowledge, and on the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the board had no previous knowledge, and on the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the board had no previous knowledge, and on the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the board had no previous knowledge, and on the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the board had no previous knowledge, and on the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the board were on the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the board were on inmate of Lyman's school and the Concord reformatory, from which institution he was discharged about a two counts are controlled the building of the Windham County Savings banks of which the courts for various matters, has been an inmate of Lyman's school and the Concord reformatory, from which institution he was discharged about a wind w No action was taken on the applica-tion of the Danielson Cotton com-pany and the Williamsville company, asking that a reduction be made in the assessed value of their plants. This year the increase is in excess of $37,000, last year $102,000 was added and the year previous the addition amounted to

CHASER IDENTIFIED. Sound Mentally-Police Watching Out for Him.

It is probable that the police have been able to fix the identity of the man who has been following and chasing women about the town for several weeks past. There is little question about this fact, although it might not be possible at present to present sufficient evidence in court to secure a ficient evidence in court to secure a conviction. The fellow lives on Me-chanic street and it is understood that he is not over strong mentally, which may account for his recent actions. Two women who reported to Officer Keach that they had been followed lakeach that they had been followed later pointed out the man to the policeman. Officer Keach talked with the fellow about it. The accusation was met with a prompt denial, but later, when the officer told him what was liable to happen to him if such work did not cease, he is quoted by Mr. Keach as saying. "They were not mad, were they?"

Taylor's Plea Helps His Case. John F. Taylor, 29, colored, of Pom-fret, probably saved himself from be-ing sent to the state prison when he improved the opportunity offered him to address the court in his own behalf. Taylor was up on a charge of breaking and entering the railroad station at Ahington.

The prisoner's chances of clemency The prisoner's chances of elemency were practically eliminated by the fact that he was sentenced at the March term of court last year to serve ten months in jail for a similar offense, and he was represented as having a record. When asked whether he had anything to say in his own defense, Taylor surprised the court by stating that the offense for which he was about to be sentenced had not been chagred against him since his appearance in the superior court last March, but that it was an old charge that had been less than the superior court last March, but that it was an old charge that had been less than the superior court last March, but that it was an old charge that had been less than the superior court last March, but that it was an old charge that had been less than the superior court last March but that it was an old charge that had been less than the superior court last March but that it was an old charge that had been less than the superior court last March but that the meeting of the Windham County Ministers' association will be held in the Congregational church in this city next week Tuesday.
